March 24 – May 7, Tuesdays and Thursdays; 10:00 -11:30 am

Review basic rules of spoken and written English grammar. Emphasis is on you using (not memorizing) the rules in real, communicative activities including writing letters, e-mails, blogs, and performing dialogues. This course is ideal for students who know minimal English or students who would like to learn how to communicate more accurately in English. 3/24, 3/26, 3/31, 4/2, 4/14, 4/16, 4/21, 4/23, 4/28, 4/30, 5/5, 5/7 No Classes – Spring Break (4/7 & 4/9)

American Popular Culture: Intermediate to Advanced Classes - $100 Paid _____

March 24 – May 7, Tuesdays and Thursdays; 12:00 -1:30 pm

In this course, you will use the skills of writing, reading, speaking, and listening in English as you learn about the U.S. and the city of Atlanta from a popular culture perspective. This course will focus on businesses from three industries—fast-food industry, sports industry, cable news industry-- that have influenced Atlanta, the U.S., and the world. In addition to learning about these topics in class, you will take field trips to sites that are associated with these businesses. Students will be expected to use MARTA for the field trips. 3/24, 3/26, 3/31, 4/2, 4/14, 4/16, 4/21, 4/23, 4/28, 4/30, 5/5, 5/7 No Classes – Spring Break (4/7 & 4/9)
