Where meeting and learning converge.

WELCOME to the Center of it all!

The Georgia Tech Global Learning Center is the place where meeting and learning converge. Designed, staffed, and equipped with the technology to foster the relationship between learning and working, the Center is setting a new standard—and earning a global reputation—for corporate and professional meeting venues.

We call ourselves the Center, with good reason. Our building stands conveniently in the center of Atlanta's hip Midtown neighborhood. And because we're a dedicated conference center rather than a hotel, your meeting stands at the center of our attention.

The Center: It's what we are, where we are, and what we do.
